

A DEWSBURY MAN DROWNED AT MIRFIELD.—

Yesterday an inquest was held at the Ship Inn, Mirfield, on view of the body of Joseph O'Connor, labourer, of Dawgreen. On the 29th January the deceased left a grocer's shop, near Shepley Bridge, at eleven o'clock at night. He was not seen again until his body was found floating in the river on Monday by a person named Rothery. It is supposed that he fell into the water in attempting to get on a boat where he was accustomed to sleep. A verdict of "Found drowned, without any marks of violence," was returned.
